What is something you'd be happy doing every single day for the rest of your life?

If there is something that I would be happy doing every single day of my life it would be riding. I just love the feeling of riding a motorcycle going to places I haven't travelled yet it gives me peace to myself. Sometimes when I'm alone and I want to spend time for myself, I travel alone going to places with beautiful sceneries. One of the reasons as well that this is something I would be happy to do every single day of my life is because I've always wanted to travel the whole Philippines using my motorcycle, I wanted to explore places I've never been, learn about its culture and traditions and meeting new people that has the same passion as mine. Some might say that riding or travelling is exhausting and I don't disagree with that truth is, it is but if it's your passion I believe you don't think about it cause you just enjoy doing what you love. By doing something what you love and not minding all those things gives you this feeling that makes you so free of all the problems you've been dealing with.

Tell us about your favorite book.

I'm not fond of reading books but there is this book that I've read once and I believe this is the best that I've read so far. The title of the book is "The End Time". It tells about a teenage boy who has a bad background in the story where I might say he is not a good person and he doesn't believe in God. He was so disrespectful to his parents and he does things that pleases him whether it was good or bad. His parents were church people and no matter what they try to tell him about these heroes of faith and stories in the Bible he's just like "You keep your God to yourselves and let me do my job".

One day the end came, he woke up Sunday morning without his parents preparing for church as they usually do every Sunday, he searched all over the house, their bedrooms, the attic, the basement all parts of the house.
