If you inherited so much money that you never had to work again, how would you spend your time?

If I inherited so much money, I will spend my time with my loved ones especially with my family and my girlfriend. I will make sure that I will satisfy all their needs. I will give them everything that they want. That could be my way of giving back all the good things they had done to me. I will pay back all their sacrifices just to help me succeed in life. After all, money is just a money. What I want in life is to provide happiness to my loved ones.

If you are a plant, what plant would you be and why?

If I will become a plant, I would be a bitter melon, because it has a lot of nutrients that are good to our body. It is also one of my favorite plant. I choose this plant because in the place where I stayed in, there is a lot of vendors of bitter melon. I always cook this plant because it is very affordable and delicious at the same time. Every time I cook this, my family are always happy and satisfied.
