What was the last gift you gave someone?

The last gift I gave was a pair of sneakers to my dad on his birthday. I just received a bonus from my previous job and wanted to buy him what he wanted to thank him for everything he has done for me. It felt good to see him smiling as he looked for the pair he wanted. I even took lots of photos to show to my mom, who is currently abroad, as he was trying out the ones that he liked. My dad isn't the type of person to show much emotion, so when I saw him happy, I was filled with warmth and was very happy as well.

If you could create a fictional company to make the world a better place, what would that company do?

I would most likely start a company that would specialize in one of the things I really enjoy doing, art. We'd do various projects like creating graphics, animating short films and illustrating books and magazines. I could help employ many of those in the art community who find it hard to get a job or have to sacrifice their passion for a job with more stability. Part of the proceeds would then go to different charities that help the sick, the homeless, people suffering from difficult situations, the environment, and even for the advancement of medical research.
