If you were an animal, what would you be and why?

If I was an animal I would like to be a bird. And why? Because I want to freely travel around and see the beauty of the world. Being a bird would give me the privilege to explore different places experience different culture, race and personality. A bird is a symbol of peace and freedom. It signifies what we all humans want, a peaceful and serene life. To freely express ourselves and do what we want.

What inspires you?

My dad would be my greatest inspiration. He is a man of honor. Being the best would be an understatement to describe my father. His perseverance, humility and resilience always keep me going. No matter what the situation is, he keeps pushing forward. Whatever life is throwing at him he always make it as an opportunity to be better and sees everything in a positive side. And that's making me continue with striving hard in life and always trust God with his plan. He is also my number one cheerleader to do the things I love and makes me happy. He is my rock and my hero.
