You're a new addition to the crayon box. What color would you be and why?

If I were a new addition to the crayon box, I would be Mae. I want to make a crayon of my own. Mae will have be a crayon that is a mixture of blue and pink, two of my favorite colors. Blue represents peace and calmness. Meanwhile, pink represents love and passion. You can also say that blue is for masculinity and pink for a woman's feminine attributes. I want to make a crayon that is applicable to all. A color that can be used by anyone and a color that is not only aesthetically pleasing but has a deeper meaning on to it.

What's the greatest advice that you didn't take?

The greatest advice I didn't take was to take on every opportunity that is available. When, I was in high school, I was offered a scholarship. I didn't take since I knew, it would be hard on my part and that there would be a lot more. As it turns out, it was a good scholarship with good benefits and all and I was too fast to turn it down. I really regretted it but crying over spilled milk won't get me anywhere. So, I just took note from my mistake. Now, whenever I see an opportunity, I gather courage to take it on. There's nothing wrong with trying. It's definitely better to try and fail than to never try at all.
