Tell us about your all-time favorite movie.

I am an avid fan of this worldwide phenomenon. Ever since then, when movie goers would opt for popcorns and soda, and would sit at the back end of the vast theatre, I was there swaing my imaginary wand. Saying that I am excited every movie premiere is an understatement. It is like coming back to Hogwarts like Harry, Hermione and Ron would do.

Magic, spells, wizards and witches! Four words that briefly describes my all time favorite movie. It is literally obvious in some part of the 'Potterhead' spectrum but most muggles may be confused. Let me proudly say that it is Harry Potter. The movie actually revolves around Harry, or "The boy who lived" as all of the wizards and witches would dub him. The killing curse lived to its name when it ended Harry's parents' lives after the most evil wizard, Voldemort, came to end Harry's life one night because of a prohecy that states that he is the one who can finally stop him. In the end, the spell backfired and it ended Voldemort, however it is not yet done. Under an uncaring and degrading aunt to an overly spoiled cousin, Harry continues to grow and live a life he clearly does not deserve. Starting from receiving a letter from the Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry, Harry embarks on his way and faces challenges his small mind can comprehend. In the end, he faced the wizard who killed his parents, finally putting justice to all that he wronged. Harry was finally was at peace knowing that he has his friends, and his family who never stopped supporting him. Even in death.

If you look at the comparison of my supposed to be spirit animal literally, you can say that I am a pig. However, as if I am going to say something about myself, I would compare myself with a bird. I always love to soar and explore new things, as change is the only thing constant in the world, I usually do welcome new things that are added in my life as an additional bonus. Birds can also be really independent and is always busy each and everyday. Whether be finding food or caring for its kin. This is exactly what I am in terms of how I view life. If there is a reason for me to apparently do my job alone without bothering others, I can certainly do it.

Rest is nice. Rest is easy. But I am always moving, even when I am asleep, I always think of what to do in my time to be productive.Â This is really comparable to what bird usually does.Â Productivity in terms of making a wonderful nest to creating wonders by exploring more first times.
