

1.If anything was possible, what would your dream job be, and why?

I would be a scientist in the field of nature, a biologist perhaps. Since my younger years, I have always dreamed about being one and helping the earth as a whole. I was raised in a well-provided education in my home since my mother is a teacher. There were a lot of reading materials that piqued my interest while I was young. I was also interested in plants, animals, society, culture, and anything under the sun. The Internet was also available when I was in elementary and secondary education which made me more into the browsing phase of my teens. Science gets me then, I was inspired by experiments, DIY, research, development, and new forms of knowledge that intrigue me. Looking back, it was fun and full of excitement during those years and I will keep it in my memory lane to dwell and appreciate things that made me grow out of age.

2. Have you ever experienced a stressful situation in your past workplace (college if fresh graduate), what was it and how did you overcome it?

If I can point out a stressful situation in the workplace, one would be the time that there were bulk applications for loans. To give a general idea the type of loan will be approved within 1 week. What happened was that there were immediate changes in the new policy stipulated on the loan. I was processing 20+ loan applications at that time and it was a very sudden change that moved their application from the usual period to 3-4 weeks. There were a lot of explanations to do that somewhat felt like an automation every time a client was asking what went wrong or what happened. I overcame it with patience and with the help also of everyone in the office, relaying the changes to my respective clients, the dissemination of information was well informed and relayed to our clients. It was an experience that I greatly appreciate since there were no cancellations and all of them were satisfied with their application.

3. In your previous position, what task did you find most challenging and why? What task did you enjoy most and why?

I always find it challenging to recruit new clients to offer our products and services due to the location of my company then, which is saturated already with loans. I would most of the time venture in the corresponding barangays to market, sell and advertise our services onsite. With the help of my manager and co-worker, we would always come back with positive results and prospective outputs. I enjoy my office work in the back office the most, where I process their applications for loans, manage backlogs, organize physical folders, and do periodic reports based on the week, monthly, semiannual, and annual reports. Tallying and crosschecking our separate reports to be efficient in the reporting date, making each other improve day by day. I have always been fond of computers, that is also why we have a Computer and Laptop in my home and have been always on the Internet if time is provided.

4. How would your previous managers/coworkers describe you?

I think they would describe me as an optimistic and positive person. I also notice that I am an all laugh person if I am already comfortable with who I am with or working with. I gave off a bright atmosphere for them and they also said that since I was transferred to that office, they had been having a great time with my company and together as a whole. We are only less than 10 of us at the office but we made sure to be close together not just as employees of the company but also as different individuals. We have also been going out of the office after timeout to enjoy food and places around the city which makes us more of a team to be honest. It was a great pleasure to work with them, we keep in touch from time to tome and I hope that it will stay that way.

5. What personal or professional accomplishments are you most proud of?

Personally, I am greatly proud that I graduated from my course choice in college even though there were minor bumps along they also helped me get back on my feet. I started working at the young age of 19, opportunities were open and available at that time. I am passionate about taking care of my parents and my sibling to also make him graduate on time. I am always putting them as my core to get me going, I love them for taking care of me and I will do the same. My professional accomplishment is that one time that there was a rush in applications needed for a loan and its purpose is urgent since it will be needed in the hospitalization bill of the husband of the applicant, I was greatly motivated to send and recommendation for the urgency of the application and within 2-3 days they were granted of the loan and have been maintaining good credit ever since. Helping one in need is what I have been doing.
