What is one of your worst pet peeves?

One of my worst pet peeve is when I get paint stains on my clothes while painting. I am always careful when I'm painting and I use an apron to avoid having paint stains. One time, my friend poked me in the face with a paint on his finger. I got annoyed because I was not wearing apron at that time and what if it got into my clothes?

Being neat and tidy is always a must for me. I hand wash my own clothes and that's why it is important for me to clean at all times. Although I spend most of the time in the visual arts studio before, I am proud to say I got the least paint stains on my uniform than the other members of that club.

What advice would you give your 15-year old self?

If I am given the chance to give an advice to my 15-year old self, I would tell her "You don't need validation from other people." When I was a teenager, I was so afraid to make mistakes and I always think about what would other people say. I should have learned how to say no to other people sometimes. I should have thought that whatever you do, people would always have something negative to comment on. Instead of thinking what others might say, I should have done more of the things I love like play with games and wear clothes that they say are only for boys. I should have said no to those people asking for requests in exchange of our friendship. I could only imagine that I would be happier if I only choose to do what makes me happy and what I am comfortable with.
