

1.If anything was possible, what would your dream job be, and why?

If anything is possible, my 10-year-old self sees my future self as a Newscaster and an author. My passion for writing has ignited since I spent my elementary, high school, and college life being in School Publications and even joining in Schools Press Conference competitions.

If there is one thing in the world that I could consider priceless, that would be every moment wherein I sit in the corner and scrawl my emotions and ideas on a sheet of paper. I believe that words are more than letters themselves – words speak who you are, and what your heart wants. That mirrors the heart of an author.

Serving the country and being a patriot of this land, I can see myself delivering the world the latest updates from where it happens as it happens. Freedom of Speech and the Freedom of Information is the right of the Filipino masses.

2. Have you ever experienced a stressful situation in your past workplace (college if fresh graduate), what was it and how did you overcome it?

Our thesis, dating back to my college years, unfolded in a stressful situation. The whole process of making a thesis has so many thoughts, life lessons, and takeaways that I have learned from.

One stressful situation that I encountered was when some of my teammates refused to cooperate with the paperwork. That one member handed in the assigned output late, which compromised the work as a whole. As a response, I, as a member of the team, respectfully told one member that everyone is exerting an effort, and that should give her motivation to submit on time as well. I overcame that situation by being open to communicating with that one member respectfully and considerably.

3. In your previous position, what task did you find most challenging and why? What task did you enjoy most and why?

I finished my 400-hour On-The-Job training at Commission on Audit – Water Districts and Other CGAS Stand-Alone Agencies. Encoding the Summary of Collections and Deposits coming from various Water Districts in the North is a task that I find challenging. I was assigned to incorporate all the data into one report covering 3 years. These are the Daily Summary of Collections and Deposits versus the deposit claims on that day made by the accountant. I need to be very keen in checking the authenticity of the Check Deposits submitted. In addition to that, the bulk of papers piled up in the storage room overwhelmed me.

Even if the whole process is a challenge itself, I enjoyed doing it. I get to appreciate the whole process as it prepares me to follow instructions and be very keen on the reports given to me.

4. How would your previous managers/coworkers describe you?

My whole ride at Commission on Audit was amazing and fruitful. There, I didn't just learn by the book, but also built a lasting relationship with my supervisors, and employees. The employees there are so very welcoming that you wouldn't regret your stay there. My supervisors would describe me as a "friendly trainee". They keep on telling me that I am the approachable one who always wears a smile every time I enter the room. In terms of tasks, my supervisor told me that I am a fast learner. She also told me that I am respectful and God-centered.

Since I am their trainee and they are already professionals, mostly Certified Public Accountants, I am very flattered, and I really do appreciate their professional approach and a warm welcome to me.

5. What personal or professional accomplishments are you most proud of?

Education is a possession that no one can rob you of. Finishing my bachelor's degree in management and accounting is the accomplishment that I am most proud of. I finished my education through God's grace. My father is a family driver, and my mother is a proud laundrywoman. My parents sacrificing and being selfless is one thing that drives me to be eager more in everything that I do. Looking back, I do part-time jobs at a cemetery, "ukay-ukay", a restaurant, and a flower shop just to earn additional allowance for my projects.

Finishing my education is a big thing to me since it was earned through the prayers and help of compassionate people who strongly believe in my potential.
