

1.If anything was possible, what would your dream job be, and why?

My dream job is to become a seaman. Not only because it is financially fulfilling but you can also travel across the globe, which is another dream of mine. Though it might be hard for me to be away from my family for a long time, it will ensure that we have food on our table. With my financial stability, I can also provide and purchase not only the necessities of myself but also my family. Probably build a bigger house, buy a car that can take us anywhere and will give a chance for my mother and father to rest from working. I love to experience new things such as eating different delicacies from other countries and meeting new and diverse people and learning new things from them as well as being amazed of how beautiful the world is. Being present in a different country and experiencing its culture will be a check on my bucket list.

2. Have you ever experienced a stressful situation in your past workplace (college if fresh graduate), what was it and how did you overcome it?

One of the stressful situations that I have experienced in my previous workplace is when a lot of tasks are given to our team, and we must submit outputs immediately. Being under a lot of pressure is stressful as it is, and cramming will not help us in this kind of situation. We overcame that situation by determining what the tasks are, identifying their level or urgency, dividing the task to our team based on their level of proficiency on the field, and doing the task one by one. Lessening of the distractions and focusing on the tasks at hand saved us a lot of time. Also, once a teammate is done with their task, they help other teammates to finish their task faster. If panicked and crammed, it would not be possible to finish the tasks on time. With this sense of organization and teamwork, we have finished all our tasks on time, and this strengthened our bond as a team.

3. In your previous position, what task did you find most challenging and why? What task did you enjoy most and why?

The task that I find challenging to do is to do simple tasks such as copying and pasting information. Although this is an easy task, it sometimes makes me feel sleepy since we are doing it on a night shift. Fighting the drowsiness is much harder than finishing the task. It helps if I drink coffee, but if I still feel sleepy, I sometimes get up from my chair and take a 5-minute walk in the hallways for me to be awakened. But at the end of the day, I finished my task on time with few minutes to spare for a review.

The most enjoyable task that I like doing the post is making creative outputs like posters and advertisements. This is an enjoyable task for me because as a "not-so-creative" person like me is challenged to make something that is colorful and artistic. It gives me a new experience and a chance to learn new things which I find fulfilling.

4. How would your previous managers/coworkers describe you?

My previous coworkers and managers often describe me as an easy-going and fun person. I think they described me as an easy-going person since I do not really complain about the tasks that are given to me and I just execute the given assignment right away. I also try to be calm and relaxed while being bombarded by a lot of things to do so that I can accomplish them efficiently and effectively. I believe that being agitated because of the tasks will not only hinder you from doing your tasks on time but it may also lead to serious mistakes and callouts from the client.

I am probably a fun person to be with because we are always laughing as we take a sip of coffee after a busy shift at work. Talking during breaks, and after work really helps us unburden the stress of the industry and doing it with friends will make it more enjoyable.

5. What personal or professional accomplishments are you most proud of?

Being able to pass the board exam for teachers is one of my proudest moments as a person and as a professional. Not only is it hard to graduate as a teacher but it is also hard to pass the board exam. It did not only make me proud, but it made my parents proud as well. Seeing that your parents are delighted by your accomplishments will give your heart a vast amount of joy. It made me proud as well that my classmates and friends were able to pass it. They can now help their families as licensed teachers. I am also proud that I can become a teacher, which is considered a noble profession. I may not be able to practice it for a long time as my profession and chosen career. I believe that God has a much bigger plan for me, and I am still proud of my experiences and what kind of person I become personally and professionally.
