

1. If anything was possible, what would your dream job be, and why?

If anything is possible, my dream job is to be a farm owner. I want to have my farm and manage it. To be specific, I would love to have a farm that produces fruits and vegetables. Having live stocks and poultry will do as well. I want an organic farm that provides healthy food for my family and community.

Food is one of the basic needs of human beings. We need food to live. We need food to be healthy. By having my organic farm, not only will I get a source of income from it, but most importantly, I can provide fresh farm foods for my family and the community. Food security is important. It will be a dream come true for me that I will not worry about providing food for myself and my family, and that everything that I need when it comes to food is already there.

2. Have you ever experienced a stressful situation in your past workplace (college if fresh graduate), what was it and how did you overcome it?

One of the stressful situations that I experienced in my past workplace was having to bring my work home. Being a teacher, my work doesn't end at the end of my shift. I still have a lot of things to do even at home to prepare for the next day. A teacher's workload is heavy, and the work-life balance is already compromised. There are times that I need to bring home all the papers to check just for me to be able to finish it. We were overloaded. But for me to overcome it, I balanced my time and managed it well. I created a schedule for the tasks to work on and prioritized the important ones. I also decided to give time for myself and have quality time with my family and friends. I also gave myself time to enjoy the things that I love to do. Aside from the workload, I also get a lot of stress dealing with problematic students, especially misbehavior inside the classroom. To deal with that problem, I make sure that there are rules and regulations for students to follow inside the classroom.

3. In your previous position, what task did you find most challenging and why? What task did you enjoy most and why?

In my previous position as a teacher, the most challenging task for me was to teach advanced mathematics subjects that I was not an expert at. Examples are Differential Calculus and Integral Calculus subjects. I know I am a mathematics major but even though I have a good foundation in mathematics subjects, this higher or advanced subject is truly challenging to teach to the students. I want my students to understand the lesson, but the sad thing is they still find it hard to understand the topics I teach in this subject. It is really a challenge to make them understand the lessons in these subjects.

The task that I enjoyed the most was being the chairman of the tabulation committee. Every time there are events and competitions in school, we are the ones tasked to tabulate the scores to determine the winners. I find this task very fulfilling. In every competition, we are the first ones to know the results since we are on the tabulation committee. With my colleagues who are also part of the team, we really enjoyed our tasks as tabulators.

4. How would your past colleagues or managers describe your work ethic?

My past colleagues would describe me as a dedicated employee. I am a hard worker. When it comes to work ethics, they can never complain since I always do my best in performing my assigned tasks. My supervisors can also attest to my hard work in doing my responsibilities. I am also a friendly person, so I am on good terms with all my colleagues. My managers are also so kind to me. I can manage to submit the designated task within the deadlines. And as much as possible, I will not be absent from work. I always make sure that I deliver the best that I can. In teaching my students, which is one of the tasks of a teacher, I always see to it that my students understand well the lessons that I teach. My colleagues would also compliment me on how I handle my students and how I deal with them.

5. What personal or professional accomplishments are you most proud of?

I am proud that I was able to get a job just right after graduation and was able to pass the board examination for teachers the first time taking it. When I graduated from college, the first goal for me was to find a job immediately. It was our financial status that drove me to find a job as soon as possible. Also, I am the eldest among the siblings and the first college graduate of the family. Thankfully, I landed a teaching job right after I graduated. For the board examination, I am so proud and happy that even though I did not take to review in a review center and just did a self-review, I still was able to manage and pass the board exam. And with this achievement, I was able to make my family proud. I am so happy that I made my parents and family proud of me. I am so thankful to God for these accomplishments, and I hope I can achieve more heights as I go along with my journey in life!
